8. Under the International Emergency Economic Powers Act (Title 50, United States Code, Sections 1701 through 1706) (IEEPA), the President of the United States has the authority to deal with unusual or extraordinary threats to the national security and foreign policy of the United States. The President deals with unusual or extraordinary threats through Executive Orders which have the force and effect of law. A violation of an Executive Order is a criminal act.

Shipping Restrictions to State Sponsors of Terrorism

9. On August 19, 1994, under the authority of IEEPA, the President issued

Executive Order 12924, which extended the Export Administration Act of 1979, and authorized the promulgation of the Export Administration Regulations, which are detailed at Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, Parts 768 through 799. These regulations authorize the Secretary of Commerce to prohibit or curtail the export of technology, goods or software to countries listed as state sponsors of terrorism as designated by the Secretary of State, in order to protect the national security, foreign policy, non-proliferation and short supply interests of the United States. In accordance with the Export Administration Regulations, a United States person or entity needs authorization from the United States Department of Commerce to legally export certain products to state sponsors of terrorism. In 1979, Libya and Syria were designated by the Secretary of State as state sponsors of terrorism.

Syria

10. Pursuant to the Export Administration Regulations, and as continued by IEEPA, it became unlawful to export certain United States origin technology, goods and commodities, including, but not limited to, computers and computer components, from the United States to Syria without a license from the United States Department of Commerce.

Libya

11. In addition to the Export Administration Regulations as applied to Libya, on January 7, 1986, under the authority of IEEPA, and in response to Libya's repeated use and support of terrorism against the United States and others, the President issued Executive Order 12543, which states that the policies and actions of the government of Libya constitute an unusual and extraordinary threat to the national security and foreign policy of the United States.

12. To implement Executive Order 12543, the United States Department of the Treasury, through the Office of Foreign Assets Control, promulgated the Libyan Sanctions Regulations, which are detailed at Title 31, Code of Federal Regulations, Part 550. Executive Order 12543 and the Libyan Sanctions Regulations prohibit, among other things: (a) the unauthorized export of goods, technology or services from the United States to Libya, with the exception of publications and donated articles intended to relieve human suffering, such as food, clothing and medicine; (b) the unauthorized export of goods from the United States to a third country that are intended for further shipment to Libya; and (c) any transaction for the purpose of, or having the effect of, evading or avoiding the Libyan Sanctions Regulations.

13. More specifically, pursuant to the Libyan Sanctions Regulations and the Export Administration Regulations, it became unlawful to export any United States origin services, technology (including technical data and other information), computers, computer components and software from the United States to Libya without a license from either the United States Department of Commerce or the United States Department of Treasury, Office of Foreign Assets Control. It is also unlawful to export or re-export

United States origin services, technology, computers, computer components and software from any country outside the United States to Libya without authorization from the United States Government.

Prohibition of Transactions with Specially Designated Terrorists

14. On January 23, 1995, under the authority of IEEPA, the President issued Executive Order 12947, which declared a national emergency regarding the grave acts of violence committed by foreign terrorists that disrupt the Middle East Peace Process. The Executive Order prohibits transactions, including financial transactions, with organizations and individuals who threaten to disrupt the Middle East Peace Process and who are declared to be a Specially Designated Terrorist by the United States Department of Treasury. The Executive Order also blocks, or freezes, all property subject to United States jurisdiction in which there is any interest held by any organization or individual declared to be a Specially Designated Terrorist. Any United States person or entity who possesses any funds in which any interest is held by a Specially Designated Terrorist, must report such interest to the proper United States authorities. Any dealings in those funds after the designation date, or any attempt to avoid acknowledgment of the funds, is unlawful.

15. To implement Executive Order 12947, the United States Department of Treasury, through the Office of Foreign Assets Control, promulgated the Terrorism Sanctions Regulations, which are detailed at Title 31, Code of Federal Regulations, Part

595. Executive Order 12947 and the Terrorism Sanctions Regulations prohibit, among other things: (a) transferring, paying, exporting, withdrawing or otherwise dealing in property or interests in property of a Specially Designated Terrorist that are in the United States, come within the United States, or come within the possession of or control of United States persons; (b) any transaction for the purpose of, or which has the effect of, evading or avoiding, or which facilitates the evasion or avoidance of the Terrorism Sanctions Regulations; (c) any conspiracy formed for the purpose of engaging in a prohibited transaction.

16. On January 25, 1995, pursuant to Executive Order 12947, the Department of Treasury, Office of Foreign Assets Control, designated the Islamic Resistance Movement, a.k.a. Hamas, as a Specially Designated Terrorist Organization. This designation makes it illegal for any United States person or entity to conduct any business with Hamas or its representatives.

17. The defendant Mousa Abu Marzook, also known as Abu Omar, is a self-admitted member of Hamas. He formerly served as the Chief of Hamas' Political Bureau. He is now publicly identified as the Deputy Chief of Hamas' Political Bureau. The Political Bureau operates as the highest ranking leadership body in the Hamas organization, setting policies and guidelines regarding Hamas' activities, including directing and coordinating terrorist acts by Hamas against soldiers and civilians in Israel and the Occupied Territories. On August 29, 1995, the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook was individually designated as a Specially Designated Terrorist, based upon his support of terrorist activities through his position as the leader of Hamas' Political Bureau. After the effective date of designation, any interest in any property, direct or indirect, held by the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook, and subject to the jurisdiction of the United States, was blocked as a matter of law. Any United States person or entity who possessed any funds in which any interest was held by the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook, should have reported such interest to the proper United States authorities. Any dealings in those funds after the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook's designation date, or any attempt to avoid acknowledgment of the funds, is unlawful.

18. Defendant Nadia Elashi, also known as Nadia Marzook and Um Omar, is the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook's wife and a cousin of the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Hazim Elashi and Ihsan Elashyi.

COUNT ONE

Conspiracy to violate the Export Administration Regulations and the Libyan Sanctions Regulations - 18 U.S.C. § 371

1. The allegations of paragraphs one (1) through eighteen (18) of the Introduction to this Superseding Indictment are hereby re-alleged and incorporated by reference as though fully set forth herein.

2. Beginning in or around August 1994 and continuing until in or around August 2000, in the Dallas Division of the Northern District of Texas, and elsewhere, the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Hazim Elashi, Ihsan Elashyi and Infocom, and others known and unknown to the Grand Jury, knowingly and willfully conspired, confederated and agreed to violate Executive Order 12924, the Export Administration Regulations, Executive Order 12543 and the Libyan Sanctions Regulations, by participating in transactions involving the exporting and attempted exporting of technology, goods and commodities from the United States to Libya and Syria, which technology, goods and commodities were subject to Executive Order 12924, the Export Administration Regulations, Executive Order 12543 and the Libyan Sanctions Regulations, in violation of Title 50, United States Code, Sections 1701 through 1706, Title 15, Code of Federal Regulations, Sections 768 through 799 and Title 31, Code of Federal Regulations, Section 550 et. seq.

MANNER & MEANS

3. In furtherance of the conspiracy, in or around and beginning in March 1997 the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Ihsan Elashyi and Infocom received purchase orders from a customer in Libya for computers and computer components.

4. In furtherance of the conspiracy, and in order to fill the orders from the Libyan based customer, the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Ihsan Elashyi and Infocom contracted with shipping companies located in the United States to ship the products to a shipping company located in the country of Malta. The Libyan customer instructed the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Ihsan Elashyi and Infocom to use that particular Maltese shipping company.

5. In furtherance of the conspiracy, and in order to conceal the true destination of the shipments, the defendant Basman Elashi wrote Malta as the final destination on the Shipper's Export Declaration forms, which forms were signed under the penalties of perjury. A Shipper's Export Declaration is a form which is filed with the Department of Commerce and on which an exporter is required to provide certain information regarding a shipment, including the value of the shipment and the final destination.

6. In furtherance of the conspiracy, the shipping company in Malta forwarded the shipments to the final customer (ultimate consignee) in Libya.

7. In furtherance of the conspiracy, in or around and beginning in April 1998 the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Hazim Elashi, Ihsan Elashyi and Infocom received purchase orders from, and supplied price quotes to, customers located in Syria for computers and computer components.

8. In furtherance of the conspiracy, and in order to fill the orders from Syria, the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Hazim Elashi, Ihsan Elashyi and Infocom contracted with shipping companies located in the United States to ship the products directly to Syria. The defendant Basman Elashi, on a Shipper's Export Declaration form dated April 6, 1999, stated that no license or authorization was required to ship the particular computers and computer components that were exported to Syria, when in fact, the Export Administration Regulations did require a license to be issued for the computers and computer components that the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Hazim Elashi, Ihsan Elashyi and Infocom shipped to Syria. Furthermore, the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Hazim Elashi, Ihsan Elashyi and Infocom failed to file Shipper's Export Declaration forms for shipments to Syria, dated May 14, 1998 and July 31, 2000.

9. The defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Hazim Elashi, Ihsan Elashyi and Infocom did not receive a license or authorization from either the United States Department of Commerce or the United States Department of Treasury, Office of Foreign Assets Control, to export the products shipped to Libya and Syria as described above.

In furtherance of the conspiracy, and in order to accomplish its purposes, on or about the dates listed below, the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Hazim Elashi, Ihsan Elashyi and Infocom committed the following overt acts, among others, by participating in transactions or negotiations involving the exporting and attempted exporting of technology, goods and commodities from the United States to Libya and Syria, which technology, goods and commodities were subject to Executive Order 12924, the Export Administration Regulations, Executive Order 12543 and the Libyan Sanctions Regulations, and for which shipments the defendants failed to obtain the proper licensing:

COUNT THIRTEEN

INTRODUCTION

1. In or around July 1992, the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook sent, or caused to be sent, $150,000 to the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi and Infocom, which was recorded on the books and records of the defendant Infocom as a credit to the pre-existing investment account of the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook.

2. In or around March 1993, the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi, Mousa Abu Marzook, Nadia Elashi and Infocom entered into a Murabaha agreement (Islamic contract), which purported to be an agreement for an investment of $250,000 by the defendant Nadia Elashi. By the terms of the agreement, the contract was valid for 12 months and was renewable annually upon agreement of the parties.

3. In an effort to conceal the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook's investment in the defendant Infocom, the Murabaha agreement stated that the $250,000 ($150,000 described in paragraph one, combined with $100,000 described in paragraph four) was an investment in the Defendant Infocom by the defendant Nadia Elashi. The agreement made no mention of the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook's previous investment in the Defendant Infocom.

4. In or around and between March 1993 and April 1993, and in order to fulfill the financial terms of the Murabaha agreement, the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook sent, or caused to be sent, two separate payments totaling approximately $100,000 to the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi and Infocom. This money was credited to a newly created investment account held in the name of the defendant Nadia Elashi. In and around October 1993, the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook's investment account, reflecting the $150,000 investment (described in paragraph one), was dropped from the defendant Infocom's books and records, and concurrently, the defendant Nadia Elashi's investment account was increased from $100,000 to $250,000.

5. The Murabaha agreement called for regular payments in amounts based upon 40% of the defendant Infocom's net profit/loss, to be made to the defendant Nadia Elashi by the defendant Infocom. Prior to the signing of the Murabaha agreement, the defendants Bayan Elashi, Ghassan Elashi, Basman Elashi and Infocom had been making payments to the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook, which were recorded on the books and records of the defendant Infocom under interest payment account number 6360. After the Murabaha agreement had been signed, all payments were made to the defendant Nadia Elashi or their son, and most were recorded under the same interest payment account number 6360, with the remainder being recorded as a return of principal.

6. As previously stated, on August 29, 1995, the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook was designated by the President as a Specially Designated Terrorist. This designation makes it illegal for any United States person or entity to conduct any transaction with the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook, including dealing in property in which the defendant Mousa Abu Marzook had an interest.
