Re: [REDACTED] 11/07/2001

[REDACTED] Webb was interviewed at the Islamic Society of Greater Oklahoma City (ISGOC) by SAs Scott Billings and Elizabeth Scott on 11/06/01. Webb appeared very forthcoming and provided the following information: Zacarias Moussaoui, known to Webb at the time only as "Shakur", came to the Oklahoma City mosque on two or three occasions in February or March 2001. Webb stated "Shakur" alienated everyone he came into contact with, was argumentative, and a "lunatic". Webb recalled "Shakur" approaching him after a sermon, asking, "Why don't you tell the Muslims they should leave the land of the Infidel?" "Shakur" also approached Webb for assistance in finding a wife, which caused Webb to feel "Shakur" might be unstable to ask such a request of a stranger.

[REDACTED] Webb now feels in hindsight that "Shakur" was involved in some way with the terrorist attacks of September 11, 2001.

[REDACTED] Webb was also familiar with Hussein Al-Attas, having known him since approximately 1996 when Al-Attas came to this country. Webb believes Al-Attas was probably "brainwashed" by "Shakur". Once Al-Attas was released by INS in Minneapolis, he told Webb he believed he and "Shakur" were going to fight "Jihad" in Pakistan. When Webb told Al-Attas he had probably made the biggest mistake of his life, Al-Attas replied, "I know".
