

Dawah at the Olympics

ICNA Atlanta unit, in conjunction with other area Muslims and youth distributed more than 50,000 brochures about Islam during the recently concluded Centennial Olympic Games in Atlanta. Imam Muhammad Naseem tirelessly educated, inspired and motivated Muslim youth for approximately two hours each day to take to the streets of "the city to busy to hate" and invite others to Islam. At least one brother from Fayetteville, NC heeded the invitation and, after receiving Dawah materials from the Olympic Dawah Team, called ICNA's Toll-free Dawah Hotline and subsequently took shahadah.

Doctors for Humanity

In a May organizational meeting in Chicago, ICNA facilitated the coming together of a group of young activist physicians who subsequently organized a Muslim service organization called Doctors for Humanity. Feeling the need to establish a network of health providers who intend to provide needed resources and services in devastated, blighted areas nationally and internationally, Doctors for Humanity intends to assist relief organizations, individuals and other groups that are working to achieve common objectives. Dr. Shaik Ubaid, ICNA Secretary General observed that to often members of the medical profession content themselves with making a living and giving occasional charity to mosques and Islamic Centers. "We are trying to harness the energies of young idealistic physicians," Br. Ubaid explained, "who are willing to make a difference in the lives of a suffering humanity." Dr. Muhammad Yunus, past Ameer of ICNA and Dr. Muhammad Islam Hussain were two of the presenters at the meeting. ■
