(Continued from page 1)

closing, "What the heck, where am I supposed to talk to Muslim girls now. They are so hard to meet nowadays." He proceeded to mumble, "We aren't supposed to go to Necto's. We can't go to S'keeper's. Club Angell was the only place I could get to know my Muslim sisters…in Islam…for MSA reasons, of course…"

Eyewitness accounts relate Mohammed Elghoul and Tarek Dika getting frustrated one evening with the apparent inefficiency when looking for a computer. Sources have them walking down the far right PC aisle yelling, "If any of you guys are on the Facebook, you better get off because we have work to do." Continuing down the row, they also proclaimed, "If you don't, we will forcibly remove you." This coming from two of the most vocal opposers on campus of the Israeli Occupation; its obvious to see how bad things have gotten.

Pre-med and Business School student Omar Usman was quite confused when he heard about the shutdown: "I don't really know where I stand on this issue. I do my business school assignments here a lot. But, as many of my past group members know, they don't really turn out too great when I work here. Well, I guess I'll just move to the Union basement. Plus, the MCAT is around the corner, and I'm going to have to increase my utilization rate if I want that 43." He proceeded to whisper, "M-C-A-T, I'm gonna get a 43," over and over again.

Sources say the new "study spot" for Muslims is now the graduate library stacks. Although the Grad is only open until 2am, there have been unconfirmed reports of students locking themselves in overnight to get in extra "studying" in.

Note: The author is a BBA1 who was inspired to write this article at the Fishbowl when she was supposed to be doing her Operations Management homework.*

MSA ISAC investigates U of M getting Immigration Attorney By Muhammad Dar, '07 (jehuty@umich.edu)

The Michigan Student Assembly's previously defunct International Student Affairs Commission began pursuing the addition of an immigration attorney to the University's Student Legal Services (SLS). From talks with SLS and the International Center, it was determined that the attorney would be a powerful asset to international students who face immigration issues. In addition, even students traveling abroad would be able to benefit. A resolution asking for student support was presented to the student assembly and was passed unanimously. SLS has added the immigration attorney (and also a separately proposed) housing attorney to its proposed budget (adding to two extra dollars a semester cost per student). If these measures are passed by the regents, U of M would have the largest Student Legal Services in the country. SLS' services are offered free to students.

The Risalah Staff - (Risalah@umich.edu)

Head Editor: AR Blauvelt (Blauvelt@umich.edu)

Editors: Nadiya Ahmed, Wajeeha Shuttari, Ali Rana

Campus Notes: Sakina Al-Amin Classifieds: Aliyah Rab

Calendar: Lubna Khan Fun Stuff: Sakina Al-Amin, Yasmin Elsayed

Writers: Waleed Nasser, Adlee Hisyamuddin, Sakina Al-Amin, Yasser Ads, Wajeeha Shuttari, Ali Rana, Roy, Azmat Khan, Aisha Jukaku, Maie Seif

CAMPUS NOTES

When The Moz Come- A handful of Muslims cleaned Yost Arena to raise $ for Darfur. The moment they arrived, miraculously, the U-M hockey team started winning. The Moz gave dawah while working alongside the cleaning staff, pocketed lost pucks, and discovered that a certain brother is "mushi".

Remember High School?- 2 or 3 (maybe more) high school students came to check out Muslim life on campus via the High School Recruitment . It was followed by Sisters Swim and…whatever it is the Brothers do. Both events were in the CCRB and lasted until the wee hours of the night.

It's a bird, It's a plane- …it's a Muslimah lugging the 2-by-4 Dawah Table across the Diag, to the Union, up the elevator, to the 4th floor, and finally to the MSA office. Anything to make the Day in the Life Program a success

Conversions, Crying, and Calligraphy - Those were 3 thrilling aspects of the Halaqa on March 10th. Converts related their 'Embracing Islam Stories', sentimental girls cried, and AAPTIS 491 students elegantly wrote attendees names in the Diwani Script

It's Cool to Play Pool - Muslims spent their St. Patrick's Night safely playing billiards and foosball; getting home was another story.

I See The Noor- Haji Noor Deen graces us with his presence for FOUR whole days, often showing his alternate talent: comedy Divestment Distressment- The Moz on campus aided in causing a fire hazard as over a 100 came to support a simple resolution requesting to create a committee to look into Umich investments in Israel; amazingly it failed by a vote of 25 to 11. And to think that blue used to be my favorite color…

Adieu, Ciao, Masalaama, Adios - Say Goodbye to Al-Risalah…that is until the fall of 2005!

THE MUSLIM LIFE PROJECT OF UMICH